About $25,000 was subscribed at the Sunday morning service at the Broadway M. E. Church, South, Louisville, for a new building to be erected on the site of the present edifice. Work on the new structure, which is to cost about $40,000, will be commenced in a few weeks.

It was a plumb night to see Colonel Gil Collins and old Dolphin making No. 3 Sunday afternoon. The Colonel thought the new timecard had gone into effect and the train would arrive 25 minutes later. The old sorrel went down Second snorting fire at every jump and Gil saved a fine by the skin of his teeth.

When the Boston left Cincinnati at 8:30 Sunday morning with her Maysville excursion, she had on board the biggest crowd that had left the Cincinnati in a long time. When Captain Conlon had filled the boat with her Government allowance there were still 800 persons on the bank, and she left without them. Their disappointment was great, and Commodore Laidley furnished the big City of Louisville to take them for a short ride on the river.

Mr. John W. Boyer is Maysville's Representative at the State Encampment.

TIT FOR TAT.

Saloon Row Results in a Fine For Sunday Selling.

Oliver Greenlee and Harvey Greenlee, brothers, became involved on Saturday night in a quarrel with Robert Clayton and Robert Moore at the former's saloon on Wall street.

During the disturbance Robert Clayton shed a brick through the saloon door, whereupon the Greenlees proceeded to give him a good thrashing.

Warrants were then sworn out on both sides, and Monday morning the quartet appeared before Judge Wadsworth.

Robert Moore was dismissed, Clayton was fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct and the Greenlees were fined $5 and costs each for breach of the peace.

The sequel to the story is, that Clayton and Moore informed on Oliver Greenlee for selling liquor on the Sunday previous to the difficulty, and for this he was fined $10 and costs.

ARMED TO THE TEETH.

Now Let the Mountain Moonshiners Hunt Their Holes.

This item is taken from a Cincinnati newspaper:

"Steamboat Inspectors Dameron and Pearne started for Whiteshead, Ky., on the Big Sandy, Monday to inspect the Favorite. As the trip has to be made a large part of the way on horseback, they will be gone three days.

"Captain Pearne secured two Winchester and a brace of pistols to protect themselves against moonshiners and the lawless character of her mountain people.

All of which is intended to create the impression that these gentlemen have literally 'taken their lives in their hands' in setting out on this mission.

Just such silly articles as that of the Cincinnati paper is what gives the 'out- side world' its impression of Kentucky and the lawless character of her mountain people.

The fact is, these men, or either one of them, might travel all over the Big Sandy region without even so much as a tooth- pick for a weapon.

There isn't a county in all Kentucky where a stranger isn't far safer than he would be in many of the public streets of Cincinnati.

Colonel Washington, Walling's attorney, says he is sure that his client will be found in- nocent of the charge against him. The trial of Jackson will cost the state about $3,000.

The summer schedule of C. and O. trains went into effect Sunday. The only changes that occur at this point are in the Maysville Accommodation, which arrives from Cincinnati at 5 o'clock p. m.—5 minutes earlier than formerly; and No. 3, which reaches here from the East at 4:25 p. m.—25 minutes later than formerly.

TOMORROW NIGHT.

Let the Opera-House Be Credited— Notes For the Fans.

You cannot afford to miss the perform- ances which are to be given tomorrow night in the Opera-house. Why don't you speak of it to your companions and friends. You know how crowds are get- ten together. One hears a thing, speaks of it to some one he meets, he tells two, the four tell ten and so on until an in- cident or occurrence is known by every- body in the community.

Now, money is needed with which to sustain a ball club. Those interested do not want to beg a fund, but have sought to entertain their patrons and thereby give them value received, so that any charitable feature may be eliminated. Will you not interest yourself—you, now, reader,—and see that at least one person goes because you have made the effort?

The two forces are most splendid pro- ductions. They are running over with ludicrous situations, funny incidences, witty expressions and happy conclusions. We cannot say too much in praise of the cast. The rehearsals have been most satisfactory, and the performance proper bids fair to eclipse any effort yet put forth by local talent.

Some new faces will be seen, but enough old favorites to make our theater goers feel they are not entirely among strangers.

Tickets for the entertainment are now on sale at all the drugstores, 50 cents pay- ing for the best seats, and you can have them reserved at Nelson's without extra charge.

Any young lady in Maysville who will sell twenty-five tickets will be given a pass to the ball games good for one month; selling ten tickets entitles to a pass for one game.

Go to work, young people! Stir ye, citizens! Let's show a great big crowd to roll up a great big sum.

FLASHES FROM THE DIAMOND.

Reboid—highly recommended by Roger Lawson—wishes to sign with our team. He is a magnificent picker. Lutter, back, crack third baseman for Hunt- ington last year, has signed with us.

Maysville people have proven them- selves fans. Last year they went mad over the game—and justly. Now, we can have as good a team as we had last year if we will strike now. Several players, among them Lucas, VanWinkle, and possibly Heileman, are anxious to come here, have signed, in fact, but their coming depends on whether we can raise a fund to sustain a club of such power. It costs money. How much will you give?

Our local players are in excellent trim to begin the festive sport. Cox, Wade- worth and Sutherland are sure of having their old places on the team, and this year we can expect great things of them. Play ball, fellows!

My, how eager the plans are for the local season to open. One hears hardly anything else nowadays. In his rounds THE LEDGER's ball man encounters groups of citizens anxious to know who he's been signed.

By going to the Opera-house Wednes- day night to see the Players in two funny farces you will be killing two birds with one stone—enjoying a good laugh and putting 50 cents into the fund for keep- ing up our ball team.

The Ledger has made ample prepara- tions for giving its readers all the local ball news and as much of the National games as will satisfy the greatest fan. Keep your eye on this column, buy THE LEDGER and keep posted.

Slews of good—yea, fine players—are writing to us to sign. You say why don't you sign them? Well, we must have money to do this thing. Go to the Opera-house Wednesday night and swell the fund and we will sign them.

Go to Nelson's and reserve your tickets for the play Wednesday night. Just as much interest as you show, that shall be the amount of money raised to sustain the local club. The finest stage settings ever shown upon the local Opera-house stage will alone entertain and please you. Delightful music will regale the audience before and after and between the plays. Get a move on you, and bring yourself and friends.

According to statistics prepared by the Geological Survey, the entire output of col- mines in the United States during the calendar year 1895 was 171,804,742 long tons, having a total value at the mines of $197,573,477.

Matt Rainey, who killed Aaron Adams at Bloomington, Clark county, is in jail at Winchester. A mob of 300 men went to the city limits, but after consultation decided to give the law a chance at Rainey. The Grand Jury convened Monday and speedily action will probably be taken by the Court.

A TURF BATTLE.

Grandest Derby of the Year to Be Run at Cincinnati.

One of the greatest race meetings ever held in the United States begins Thurs- day, the 21st inst., at Oakley Park, the beautiful and superbly equipped course of the Cincinnati Jockey Club. The meeting will be of thirty days duration, and begins with the richest stake of the year, the Oakley Derby; the guaranteed cash value of which is $12,500.

Every great three-year-old is eligible, and the field will be unprecedented in size and quality. There is no single colt in the country that overshadows all others, as has been too frequently the case in the past. The Kentucky Derby illus- trated that the best were close together. For that historic event only eleven made the last payment, and were eligible. For the great Oakley Derby the following, in- cluding all the Kentucky Derby eligibles, and many more, have made all the neces- sary payments, and are eligible to start for the $12,500 prize.

Since Mike Dwyer, the Brooklyn pug- gler, now owns both Ben Brush and Ben Eder, the Oakley Derby will be a grand turf battle of the West and South against the East.

That Ben Brush and Ben Eder are just now the best three-year-olds in the country, may be contended with much show of reason, but Byron McClelland's Prince

ALARMING EPIDEMIC.

Remarkable Mortality Among the Relatives of Neekie Makers.

New York Mail and Express.

One of the best known neekie factories on Grand street has for its Superintendent a big, jolly fellow, who, while an excellent business man, is of rather a trusting, unsuspicious nature. Directly under his supervision are seventeen young women about as quick-witted as can be found in a day's walk on the East side. They receive a stipulated sum each week, and are not required to work on legal holidays.

About four months ago application was made to him by one of the employees for a "day off" to go to a funeral. A grandmother was dead. The request was granted. During the same week another girl asked leave to stay away from the funeral of a cousin. That was granted also.

Following these requests came a most alarming mortality among the relatives of the employees. In twelve weeks the seventeen girls had been off thirty-six times to attend funerals. Sometimes it was a uncle, sometimes an aunt, and again a grandfather. The original applicant appeared to suffer the most frequent bereavement. She had been away four times in four weeks to go to a funeral. When she made her fifth request the manager called her into his office.

"Do you expect to get married soon?" he asked.

"Well, I don't know," replied the girl, opening her big black eyes in surprise. "Why do you ask, Mr. Brown?"

"I suppose," replied the Superintendent, ignoring the question for a moment, "that in case you do marry you hope to have children?"

"Well, I hadn't thought of that," was the young woman's response. "But I suppose I would like to have children of my own. Certainly."

"I am glad to hear it," said Mr. Brown. "Please tell me what you mean?" asked the neekie maker. "I don't understand you."

"I simply thought," said the Superintendent, as he took the payroll book from his shelf, "that your family was in danger of becoming extinct. Here you have buried your uncle, your aunt, your cousin, your grandfather, and now you are going to your sister's funeral. There won't be any of you left pretty soon."

The young woman reddened, and after a painful pause said she would withdraw her application for time off. Then the Superintendent went into the general work-room.

"Young ladies," he said, "I regret to be obliged to announce that hereafter I shall be obliged to limit each of you to two funerals a month. I am sorry to do this, but if this epidemic keeps up I shall expect that you will fall victims yourselves. Your families are dropping off so rapidly that I cannot look for any other result. Do you catch the drift of my remarks?"

There was a deep silence for a moment, and then a giggle. Mr. Brown went back to his books. There hasn't been a death since he spoke, a month ago.

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIGAS!

NEWSY NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The Stanley went to Pomeroy last night.

The Virginia, with all she could handle on this water, passed to Cincinnati last night. She will return tonight, but it is thought she will have to lay up before reaching Pittsburgh.

The Ohio is waiting this up at head-waters, but weather conditions are favorable for early start. There is 8.5 at the dam at Pittsburgh, 4.4 at Wheeling, 5.1 in Kanawha at Charleston, 7.3 at Caltiesburg and 7.1 at this point.

The "White Collar" Pomeroy packet Louis A. Sherry met with an accident that will lay her up several days. She ran aground at Racoon Island and also grounding her wheel, broke it to a considerable extent. The Henry M. Stanley happened along and went to the rescue of the unfortunate boat, towing the Sherry to Gallipolis, where she will tie up until repaired. There was a big May Festival excursion ready to go to Cincinnati on the Sherry when the accident happened.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses, and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

JUSTIFIED THE WOMAN.

Husband Tried to Leave Off Smoking and She Left Him.

Chicago Post.

All eyes rested upon the attorney for the defendant as he rose to make his opening statement.

"Your Honor," he began, "I realize that the charge is a serious one. This woman has left the man she swore to love, honor, and obey, and refuses to return to him. Yet I hope to make it clear to your Honor that she is justified in all that she has done, and that she, rather than he, has just cause of action."

The Judge scowled, and involuntarily shook his head.

"I understand your Honor's feeling," said the lawyer, quickly, "and my views would be the same if I were not acquainted with all the circumstances of this case. It is this man who merely throws a door-mat at his wife I would be the last to claim that she was justified in leaving him. If he had knocked her downstairs I would say that that part of the lottery of love, and let it go at that. If he had played battledore and shuttlecock with the children I would say that, so far as the wife was concerned, he was acting clearly within his rights, and that it was his duty to bear with him. If he had a wild and ungovernable temper and locked her out of the house I should hold that it was her duty to crawl in the cellar window and try to pacify him. If he refused to provide for her I should hold that it was her duty as a good and true wife to live on nothing and hope for better times."

The Judge began to show some signs of astonishment. "But, your Honor," continued the lawyer, "there are occasions when it is absurd to expect any human being to live with a man. There are times when it would be impossible for the most angelic creature that ever lived to exist in the same house with a man, and I expect to show that such was the case in this instance—"

The Judge motioned the attorney to stop, and turned to the plaintiff.

"The attorney for the defense," he said, "intimates that you have been trying to swear off smoking. Is it true?"

"It is, your Honor."

"Case dismissed," said the Judge, sharply. "She was justified."
